

Lu Qinsheng and Andy Zhao are both reliable partners and friends of mine. Andy, who is able to read and write English, will also be available for contact as we begin our collaboration on any plastic molding related projects. Additionally, I have team members, Ella Gao and Steven Cai, working with me on different projects. These ensure that, should anything unexpected happen to me (though I hope it never does), you will still have capable contacts to continue the projects and maintain the supply of products with you.